The children will learn a number of skills including the eight points of a compass, 4 and 6 figure grid references and symbols of a map. The children will experience using these on our trip to Dartmoor as well as other fieldwork based on rivers.	Using the Michael Morpurgo book - 'Where My Wellies Take Me'- the children will use language and structures in the book to create their own story based on a walk around the River Lemon. There will be a focus on drafting and re-drafting writing, vocabulary, speech and the audience. The children will also be looking at punctuating clauses correctly in their writing so what they write is grammatically correct.	The maths focus will be on calculation, place value with particular focus on mental calculation. Children should be confident with all times tables up to 12 x 12. In Maths we will be exploring problem solving and deepening our understanding of calculation.	We will be considering how we can be the best citizens we can be. We will encourage good deeds and ensuring we act as role models.	The children will be studying the artwork of Paul Cezanne- a renowned French painter. The children will be looking at the range of tone in his artwork and learning skills using pencil and charcoal. From that, the children will focus on painting skills and produce their own landscape pictures and botanical drawings using photographs taken from the visit to Dartmoor.	We will be developing our understanding of and working in a team to support each other. We will also continue to practice our different skills.
